THOMAS N. MARINO, D.O.

What is your volunteer role at CVIM?

I care for patients and do quality assurance and chart reviews. I also do new provider orientations.

What brought you to volunteer at CVIM?

I was motivated to join the clinical team by other CVIM physicians—Dr. Kennedy and Dr. Wirship.

How does volunteering at CVIM make you feel?

Great! It is truly a place of caring and education. While spending time with the other providers you gain knowledge from their years of experience.

To interest his friends to volunteer at CVIM, he would say:

Just spend one hour here and you will be hooked .You will immediately feel the caring nature of all the volunteers. And the satisfaction from helping patients is priceless!

Have you recruited any other volunteers to work at CVIM?

I've been attempting to. I made an announcement highlighting our need for more clinicians at the Paoli Memorial Hospital's Physicians Staff Meeting in the early spring. Hopefully word will spread, and some additional physicians will volunteer.

Dr. Marino wears many hats:

I was a Family Practice physician in private practice for nearly 20 years. Dr. Kennedy and I started in an office affiliated with Paoli Hospital and later Great Valley Health. We left those organizations to start our own practice in Guthriesville, where we treated thousands of patients. Due to illness and long-term treatment, I had to leave our practice in April of 2009. While recuperating I began volunteering at CVIM, serving on the board of our Homeowners Association, and became a member of the Landscape Committee. For the last 6 years my wife and I have been members of St Joseph's Church in Downingtown, where we also volunteer.

When not at CVIM, he likes to:

Read novels and medical journals, and he loves gardening.
